Account Features

Please note: You may change your account features and options at any time, with advance written notice to us.

Borrowing Money to Buy Securities (Buying "On Margin") Please Read Carefully

You will have a "cash account," unless you choose to have a "margin loan account" (customarily known as a "margin account"). To help you decide whether a margin loan account is right for you, please read this information, the Margin Loan Agreement and the Margin Disclosure Statement.

You may apply for a margin account at a rate of 10% APR after a period of one (1) year of trading with the firm.

In a cash account, you pay for your securities in full by the settlement date of the purchase (generally three business days from the purchase). In a margin loan account, we may lend you a portion of the purchase price. This is called buying securities "on margin." For example, when you buy equity securities (such as common stock) on margin, you typically must deposit at least 50% of the purchase price, and we would loan you the balance. You are liable for repaying the borrowed funds and the interest incurred.

If you borrow funds in your margin loan account and the value of your holdings declines below the firm's and/or regulatory maintenance margin requirement, you may be subject to a "margin call." This means that we can either (1) require you to deposit additional cash or margin-eligible securities to your account immediately, or (2) sell any of the securities in your account to cover any shortfall, without informing you in advance. We will decide which of your securities to sell. Even if we notify you that you have a certain number of days to cover the shortfall, we may still sell your securities before that time frame expires. Further, we may increase at any time the level of equity that you must maintain in your margin account without triggering a margin call.

We have the right to lend shares held in your margin loan account to others. This should not impede your ability to sell these shares, but may cause you to lose voting rights and the right to preferred tax treatment on certain dividend payments.

Managing Your Cash

Sometimes there is cash in your account that hasn't been invested. For example, you may have just deposited money into your account without giving instructions on how to invest it, or you may have received cash dividends or interest. We will automatically place—or "sweep"—that cash into one of the cash management programs listed below—also called "cash sweep programs." Cash management programs offer different benefits and risks, including different interest rates, customer protections and insurance coverage (namely, FDIC or SIPC coverage). Some may have certain eligibility criteria, such as minimum cash balances and specific account types.

Please choose one of the cash management programs listed below. You may instruct us to change your selected cash management program at any time to another, if you meet the eligibility criteria of the new cash management program. If you do not choose one, we will automatically place your un-invested cash into the default cash management program, which will be Money Market Deposit Account at a rate of 0.88% APR. We will give you advance notice of any change in your choice or of the options generally available to you. We may need your consent for certain changes, but not for others.
